Webinar Overview and Objectives:

This presentation will review the physiology and treatment of emergent and non-emergent conditions associated with SCUBA diving and breath-hold diving. Additionally, there will be a review of how to formalize treatment plans post initial resuscitation. This will be followed by a question and answer session with the lecturer.

- Categorize pathological conditions based on occurrence during ascent or descent
- Devise and formalize an initial resuscitation plan for critically ill divers
- Devise and formalize a longer treatment plan, including hyperbarics, following initial resuscitation
